RE: Assignment Code

Attached is the updated Assignment Code with a new column representing the appropriate license under Rules 2002.

The first two columns represent the course code and course title, approved by the State Board of Education, as supplied by the Indiana Department of Education. These are up-to-date as of February 2003. No course codes have been assigned to exceptional needs course titles or school service personnel and administration and supervision positions.

In the vast majority of cases, the appropriate license under Bulletin 94, Bulletin 192, Bulletin 400, and Rules 46-47 have remained the same from the previous Assignment Code, approved by the Board in March of 1993. Changes in those columns have been made only in cases where the course title has been added or changed, or if an error existed in the 1993 document.

In addition to working with Indiana Department of Education staff, this document was reviewed for feedback by a personnel director, a superintendent, and a high school principal.

Upon approval of the Board, staff will disseminate the Assignment Code to all school districts, higher education institutions, and appropriate stakeholders electronically. In addition, the document will be placed on our website immediately after Board approval. The staff will also keep a supply of hard copies on hand to be mailed upon request.

In order to assure that the Assignment Code remains current, the staff plans to update the document on a three-year cycle, with the next update occurring in March of 2006.

Staff Recommendation:

The Board approves the 2003 version of the Assignment Code for immediate use.

If Indiana students are to achieve high standards, there must be competent, caring, and qualified educators to get them there.
